NASHVILLE

April, 2025

I'm pretty confident I have been to Nashville before, but I must have been rather young because I don't remember anything.

It's been three years since since I last saw my friend, Lucius, in person and we share a lot of similar interests in photography and technology. Coincidentally, one of the local film labs scheduled a photo walk at Centennial Park the very same weekend I had booked tickets to visit, so we joined a gaggle of film photographers and spent the afternoon
